

Marlena Fiol, PhD, is a globally recognized author, scholar, and speaker. She is a spiritual seeker whose work explores the depths of who we are and what's possible in our lives. Her significant body of publications on the topic, coupled with her own raw identity-changing experiences, makes her uniquely qualified to write about personal transformational change. She holds a PhD in Strategic Management from the University of Illinois and has taught on the faculties of New York University and the University of Colorado. Marlena is the author of Nothing Bad Between Us: A Mennonite Missionary's Daughter Finds Healing in Her Brokenness and, together with Ed O'Connor, Separately Together and Reclaiming Your Future. Their latest book CALLED is now available for order. Learn more at marlenafiol.com.

Ed O'Connor, PhD, is an acclaimed author and scholar. He is an inspirational speaker who has devoted himself to supporting others in identifying and removing the barriers to realizing their dreams. He considers every piece of writing an opportunity to share his insights with others, as well as learn more about his own transformational journey. He holds an MBA from the Harvard Business School and a PhD from the University of Akron and has taught on the faculties of the Universities of Georgia, Tennessee, Texas, and Colorado, as well as the Georgia Institute of Technology. Together with Marlena, Ed is the author of Separately Together and Reclaiming Your Future. Their latest book CALLED is now available for order. Learn more at marlenafiol.com.
